

GT NATION, by Erica Palmer

This Nov 8, in celebration of Veterans Day, Georgia Tech Hockey Club hosted the 10th Annual Lt Tyler Brown Benefit game against Tennessee, a six-time participant in the event. Donations and merchandise sales are part of the $400,000 available for aspiring GT students currently in the Tyler H. Brown Scholarship Fund (www.tylerbrown.def6.com/).

As in the past, the GT Army ROTC Color Guard participated during this always-busy weekend for the cadets, as they came directly from night maneuvers in the North Georgia mountains, changed from battle gear into dress uniforms and presented the Nation's Colors on-ice, during Mrs. Patti Spafard's stirring rendition of the National Anthem. The GT AROTC Color Guard is under the direction of Sgt. First Class Gary Binslee and the cadets present last night were:

Cadet Emily Solon

Cadet Joshua Miller

Cadet Robby Jackson

Cadet Samuel Reichenthal

Cadet Michael Kahn

Several veterans, including GT coach Joe Kraft, referee Shon Huettl, Tennessee goaltender David Ayres, Hockey Y'all's Jim Davis, and Mr. Carey Brown, Tyler's father, were recognized for military service in the name of their country. The annual Sarge Day Spirit Award, in honor of retired Army MSGT Kenny Day, current SECHL commissioner and a past

GT coach, was awarded to GT 3rd-year goaltender & club treasurer Colin Heim for “SELF-SACRIFICE, PERSERVERANCE, DUTY, DESIRE, & DISCIPLINE”.

The crowd saw GT come back from a one goal deficit after two periods to win 3-2 on a goal by #9, the pride of Coppell TX, 2nd-yr Jack “Mo” Kisor, with 3 minutes left in the game, while airborne. (see photo)
